OLD EDITOR-LAW- YER IS DEAD

OCONOMOWOC, Wis., Dec. 1.—Edwin Hurlbut, editor of the Wisconsin Free Press and one of the oldest lawyers in the state, died late Tuesday night, aged 88. Death was due to old age.

Mr. Hurlbut was born in Newton, Conn., Oct. 10, 1817. When 7 years old he moved with his parents to Bradford, Pa., where the family resided only a short time, removing to Michigan soon after. Edwin left home and went to Lodi, N. Y., where he read law. He was admitted to the bar in 1847 and returned to Michigan, settling at Manson.

He was appointed postmaster in 1848, later was elected district attorney, and then was appointed judge advocate in the Michigan state militia with the rank of colonel. In April, 1850, he came to Oconomowoc and began to practice law. He became the attorney for the Milwaukee-Watertown-Madison plank road and in 1856 was elected district attorney. He held many public offices here and served many terms as supervisor and member of the industrial school board.

LAWSON CONTROLS ELECTIONS IN EQUITABLE AND MUTUAL

Boston Trust-Buster has Insurance Grafters Where he Wants Them

Writes Interesting Letter on his Work to Tribune Readers

In a letter to the Editor of the Tribune, Thomas W. Lawson of Boston, the financier and most popular ideal of the holders of insurance policies and "common stock" in the country today makes sensational statements. He says:

Boston, Nov. 24, 1905.

Mr. Editor: I have now sufficient proxies to warrant me in saying I will control the election of both the New York and Mutual companies—absolutely control them, and proxies are coming in to me at the rate of thousands each day. There are over 200 banks, 20 towns or city treasurers and 300 individuals scattered all over the country that have voluntarily opened up proxy collection offices, at no expense to me, and they are each sending in to me daily a batch of from 25 to 700 proxies.

I have carried all public meetings, with the exception of Schenectady. In three states, Indiana, Florida and Texas, the grafters gave me a hard fight. I carried Indiana almost unanimously. Florida and Texas adjourned for two weeks. The Florida meeting was held last night, and the following telegram which I have just received speaks for itself:

"Meeting large and red-hot, but we gave grafters no quarter. Meeting voted by large majority to send proxies to you. Vote on resolution was practically unanimous."

Below are copies of telegrams sent Florida and Texas.

On the eve of each public meeting I send telegrams like these to meeting, and also have them inserted in half-page advertisements in local papers.

If you will go through these telegrams you will find plenty of meat—raw, cooked and jerked—for good stories—if you want them.

Telegram to Policyholders.

The following telegram to policyholders of Texas in meeting at San Antonio was sent by Lawson:

"Since your meeting at Houston the battle between insurance graft and the man who would manacle and then crucify it has become as defined as the trail of a white man hunting curs in hell. Orders have gone forth to scores of thousands of the grafters' hirelings at any cost to keep every public meeting from endorsing Lawson.

"Sample: At Schenectady, New York, Nov. 20th, hundreds met. The self-appointed chairman was the treasurer of the General Electric Co. He appointed another General Electric official secretary, and they brought in a set of resolutions:

"Insurance graft must be stamped out. Virtue must prevail. Annual meeting of New York Life and Mutual not until spring, therefore no rush. Only thing necessary is appointment of committee of ten to formulate plans. Committee of ten herewith appointed. An association will be formed to meet when I, treasurer of General Electric Co., call it. This association must include every policyholder in and about Schenectady. No policyholder must give his proxy to anyone, particularly Lawson. Some time before annual meeting this association will collect proxies and see that they are voted in interest of virtue and against graft, I to decide what is virtue, what is graft. Everything now being ready you will vote."

"Half the meeting refused to vote; other half, made up of General Electric employees, having been warned in advance of the consequence, lukewarmly voted. (The General Electric shops are at Schenectady, and they employ thousands of workmen). Chairman then declared business completed. Afterwards, finding he had not sufficient control of the committee, he stated there was another General Electric official he wished to put on, and would enlarge committee to eleven to accommodate him. Meeting being about to adjourn, the chairman proceeded to attack me along the same cowardly lines as other insurance companies' hirelings, ending by proclaiming that of all men in America I was the last one to be entrusted with proxies. Meeting adjourned. Local papers interviewed policyholders and privately they were unanimously in my favor, and a large number sent me their proxies.

"This sample is being sent round the world by the insurance grafters to show how my movement is being squelched. The General Electric Co. is one of the foremost corporations of the 'System' for plundering the people. It is controlled by the same men who control the Big Three insurance companies, and the New York investigation has proved that the controllers' hands have always been into the Big Three's treasuries up to the elbows.

"Simultaneously with orders to disrupt meetings the leading corporations of the country have received instructions to canvass their employees and compel them to give their proxies against Lawson.

ies against Lawson.

"Example: E. H. Harriman, one of the trustees of the Big Three, and who, the investigation has shown, secured their funds by loading them with his securities at inflated values to the extent of hundreds of millions, is the president of the Southern Pacific railroad. While this meeting is in progress there is posted in all the cities and towns along the line of the Southern Pacific notices from the local managers for all employees to turn in their proxies to the office, and I have from over twenty different points received letters from scores of employees that if they do not do so they will be discharged. At the same time, thank God, I have received proof from the railway labor organizations that they will refuse to do so and will make an issue if necessary.

Railroads' "Work."

"Today's Oregon Daily Journal, Portland, Ore., publishes the following:

"The fight between Thomas W. Lawson and the coterie of men who control the Equitable Life Insurance association, the New York Life, the Metropolitan and other old line companies, has spread to the Harriman railroad lines. E. H. Harriman has taken a hand in defense of the insurance companies against Lawson's attempt to secure proxies from policyholders in the mutual companies in order to oust the present regimes.

"Employees of the Oregon Short Line, the Oregon Railroad & Navigation company and the Southern Pacific are being questioned as to what companies their lives are insured in. If they carry policies in any of the companies that are under Lawson's fire they are asked to give their proxies to Mr. Harriman's agents.

"The demand is said to be general over the Pacific coast lines. While it is not conveyed as an order, it is said railroad employees are given to understand that Mr. Harriman would appreciate the favor if their proxies were turned over to the anti-Lawson crowd, and this means Alexander, Ryan, McCurdy, McCall, Hyde and the rest, back of whom are the Harriman interests and other financial forces. It is said Mr. Harriman feels, like other railroad stock operators who have borrowed heavily from the surplus funds of life insurance companies, that he owes it to the insurance managers to stand with them in the fight Lawson is making for their overthrow. He is calling on the army of railroad employees to line up with him in the fight.

"On the receipt of the order in Portland a man was sent out from the general manager's office to call on each employee in the city, learn the name of the company in which he is insured and secure his proxy if possible.

"The call issued by Lawson to policyholders all over the country, to pool their proxies and organize an opposition strong enough to control the coming elections of life insurance directors, is being responded to with a flood of favorable responses. Policyholders of all the New York companies are sending in their proxies to Lawson, and it is believed the insurance company managers are much frightened, for if they were not, the aid of Mr. Harriman and others of his class would not have been appealed to. It is said there is a strong chance that Lawson will receive enough proxies to turn over the entire machinery of the insurance companies to new and independent directors.

"Again, today's Harper's Weekly, just out, contains a leading editorial from the pen of the controller of Harper's Weekly, Colonel Harvey, wherein he 'outherods Herod' in his abuse of me, and says that the American people have gone insane because it is evident they are flocking to me for relief from the insurance grafters. In this editorial he boldly states that policyholders had much better remain where they are—in the hands of the present grafters, or turn their affairs over to others worse than the present grafters, than to give me their proxies."

"J. Pierpont Morgan and George W. Perkins own Harper's, and Col. Harvey is Perkins' appointee in running the property. Perkins is the vice-president of the New York Life, and the man who made the shameful confessions before the New York investigating committee, and the very foremost example of the Big Three grafters. So it can be seen that I have not yet paid the price for what I have attempted to do for policyholders, but must stand more of their mud, which I will willingly do to place honest men in control of the vast funds the people have been plundered of. Then God help the grafters, for none will be spared.

"I respectfully submit these facts to the policyholders of Texas. I reiterate each and every statement and pledge made in all my public statements, and I ask that they unanimously 'resolute' to give me their proxies that I may nail their resolutions alongside those of the packed Schenectady meeting, but if they do not do this, I ask every honest, manly policyholder in Texas to send me his proxy direct. In doing so I appeal to every policyholder in Texas who has red blood in his veins for a square deal, assuring him if he gives me one I will do the rest or stand convicted before the whole world of being the most perfect specimen of a jackrabbit cur yet discovered.

"Bear in mind I do not want your money; I do not want anything of value to me; I am too busy even for your sympathy, but I do want the only thing you have which is dry ammunition to me at the present time—your proxies, and I proclaim what I want openly.

"I deeply regret I am so loaded with this work that I cannot leave Boston, or I would be at your meeting, there to proclaim what I do here, with that any man who impugns my motives or states that they are a hair different from what I have pledged my word they are, is a liar, a cur liar."

"THOMAS W. LAWSON.
Boston, Nov. 23, 1905.

"P. S.—In appealing to the assembled Texas policyholders for a square deal, I ask your chairman to lay this statement before the meeting."

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—In the most desperate and spectacular game of football ever played in the west, the University of Chicago defeated the University of Michigan eleven on Marshall field before a crowd of 27,000 spectators yesterday afternoon by the narrow margin of 2 to 0.

Chicago's two points were made on what may be termed a "fluke" play. The two teams were evenly matched as any two that ever faced each other on a western gridiron, and after having battled for three-quarters of the game, Chicago got its points on a safety which resulted from a mis-play on the part of Left Halfback Clark, who lost his head at a critical stage.

The Maroons won the game and also the western championship on the following play: With the ball on Michigan's 45-yard line Eckersall booted the oval across the maize and blue goal line. Clark picked it up and instead of touching it to the ground he started to rush the ball forward. When about three yards over the line Catlin and several other Maroons tackled Clark fiercely, pushing him back over his own goal line, which gave the Maroons the safety, netting them the only two points scored.

STAGE AMUSEMENTS

A GLIMPSE OF A SCULPTOR'S STUDIO

Lorado Taft will deliver his popular lecture "A Glimpse of a Sculptor's studio" at La Crosse theatre in Y. M. C. A. course next Monday evening.

The Chicago Tribune commented on this lecture as follows: "After all it was the wit of Lorado Taft that most charmed the great audience last night. From the moment the eminent sculptor began talking, in his composed, genial way, and the first picture was flashed upon the screen, the running fire of comment upon the panorama of artists' faces and typical masterpieces was sparkling with wit. It was a breezy chat with the people in the pews; no estimates of painting were forced upon them, but they were taken into the confidence of the speaker and told what he liked and did not like, and why, but with no trace of oracular assumption. The fact that the lecturer is eminent among the sculptors, not alone of this country, but of others, was not to be inferred from the modest way he talked of Gerome, Bouguereau, Jules Breton, as their pictures appeared upon the screen. Tall, of good presence and strong voice, Mr. Taft is a great success as a lecturer."

THE THEATRICAL MAN'S JOKE

Charles H. Green, the manager of "Marching Through Georgia," which comes to the La Crosse theatre on Friday, Dec. 8th, was making the trip from Alpena to Bay City, Mich., last season. His company was to open with a matinee and the train was about an hour slow and steadily losing more time. Mr. Greene knew there would be a splendid matinee in Bay City and was in a hurry so as not to keep the audience waiting. The train was making about 40 miles per hour but it seemed to be the slowest train on earth. Mr. Greene told the conductor what he thought of a road that couldn't retain its schedule. The conductor took his remarks as a personal insult and told Mr. Green if he didn't like the speed of the train, he could get out and walk.

Mr. Greene—never known to be at a loss for a word quickly replied "I would, only they don't expect us until this train gets in."

ALL PREPARING FOR APPEARANCE OF JEROME

A very little time remains before the appearance of Jerome K. Jerome and Charles Battell Loomis, the famous humorists at La Crosse theatre. They will be here next Wednesday, Dec. 6th, and that a large and enthusiastic audience will greet them seems assured. Judge John Brindley

Thanksgiving Services

Union Thanksgiving services were held throughout La Crosse yesterday. Congregations assembled with the neighboring flocks to hear from the lips of the shepherds how the heart of man should feel today for the blessings of the past year. Men and women and children knelt in gratitude and prayed for the continued favor of the God of Hosts. The feature of each of the services was a special musical program.

Frey May Start a Pickling Plant at Alma

George Frey, of La Crosse, who has had years of experience in the vinegar and pickling business, met a few of our business men, in an informal way, last Sunday and placed before them a proposition for starting a pickling establishment here, says the Alma Journal. All he asks is the moral support of the people here and a sufficient supply of cucumbers to keep him supplied with raw material. He would not start on a very large scale and for the first year, from ten to fifteen acres of cu-will introduce the humorists. The seat sale opens at Young's drug store Tuesday morning Dec. 5th and a large rush will undoubtedly be on for good seats.

The New York Sun, commenting on the recent appearance of Mr. Jerome, the famous English humorist in the metropolis, says:

"It was a good-sized, appreciative audience, with a hair-trigger sense of humor, and Mr. Jerome could find no fault with his reception.

His lecture on beauty made to order was delicious, his description of German's strict ordinances very funny. He found that he could not hang a bed out of a window (he didn't say whether he tried), and when he threw coal, an egg and other things from his window at noisy cats he was fined twelve marks.

"Mr. Jerome's impression of the Germans is that strict obedience to petty laws has so destroyed their initiative that he doesn't see how they get to the gate of heaven unless they are guided by the spook of a German cop.

"The humorist's description of Uncle Somebody-or-other hanging a picture was truly British, and the audience smiled indulgently over it. It roared at the story of the stolen liver and the stagedriver with the string. Mr. Jerome read from one of his books. Only once or twice was there a touch of pathos in his talk, and then it was so good that his hearers would have liked more."

Two large audiences greeted Mme. Helena Modjeska in her portrayal of "Mary Stuart" and "Macbeth" at the theatre yesterday. These were farewell performances of that famous actress.

FALLS INTO A CORN SHREDDER

Sliding feet first into the deadly jaws of a corn shredder was the experience of Richard Erwin, a Heart Prairie lad. Young Erwin stepped on the feeding board of a large machine, but lost his balance and was drawn into the snapping roll up to his knees, where he was held by two workmen. Castings had to be broken before the lad could be released. He was fearfully cut and his feet were crushed, just escaping the knives. His knees were badly torn and bruised.

The first safe skating of the year was enjoyed yesterday on the marsh between the north and south sides.

SMOKING AND CHEWING TOBACCOS

LONG CUT FOR SMOKING AND CHEWING MIXTURE FOR PIPE AND CIGARETTES

The flavor of much of the tobacco made now-a-days is produced by DOCTORING the leaf. Doctoring is a cheat and dangerous to the health of the smoker, but it costs the maker a whole lot less, it enables him to use the cheapest grade of tobacco. Red Feather Tobacco is absolutely free from all artificial flavoring. Its fine flavor and aroma is the result of a perfect blend of high grade leaf, cured by an entirely natural process.

TWO FOOTBALL GAMES.

The expected and the unexpected happened in the football game of yesterday. The expected occurred in our own little football world and the unexpected took place when Chicago defeated Michigan.

As to the latter, it makes Chicago the western intercollegiate champion, without its having made a straight football score on any team of championship size. Erkesall kicked a goal from the field against Wisconsin, and Chicago made a safety on Michigan. It is really doubtful whether there is much glory in capturing the pennant by so marked a streak of luck.

It was expected that St. Thomas would defeat the plucky little W. B. U. team yesterday. There is nothing discouraging in the defeat. It must be remembered that this is the first year of "big" football in La Crosse. The Toland boys did remarkably well, and every visitor had a "run for his money." Next year may see the best secondary eleven in the state in La Crosse, if indeed it is not here now.

WHAT "SOCIETY" IS.

"Society"—what is it? Not what it used to be. Not what it should be.

This true of "society" in the more technical sense in which we understand the term. The social commingling of sensible people who enjoy meeting and talking on sane and substantial topics is entitled to be known as our "society," but that is the humdrum of everydayness that is scoffed at as "plebeian" by our "exclusive" sets.

Henry Watterson and many other virile writers have discussed that "money-mad" feature of "high society," which expresses itself in outlandish eccentricities that to the balanced mind are little short of enormities. Animal dinners, the expenditure of thousands of dollars upon floral decorations, extravagance in dress and kindred frivolities characterize this sort of "social" monstrosity.

In a recent article Marie Coralli discusses another side of "high society," the innateness of which leads her to term it "insanity." "To look at our fashionable garden parties of today," says this interesting writer, "to see the invited guests wandering aimlessly about over lawns and terraces, commenting on one another's looks and running down one another's clothes, is a strange sight. It reminds one irresistibly of a 'charity' fete in the grounds of a lunatic asylum, where the patients who are fairly sane are allowed to walk about.

"But in the grounds of the lunatic asylum there are strong keepers ever on the watch, and if any one of the poor mad personages should develop a desire to 'knock balls about' he or she would be promptly withdrawn from the scene in case homicidal mania should develop under the influence of the mallet or the stick.

"Lunatics are not expected to converse. Indeed, it is a matter of stern necessity that they should be kept away from conversation as much as possible and 'amused.'

"Are we, therefore, to draw an inference from this fact that fashionable society in general is insane, or on the verge of insanity? Because most assuredly at garden parties it is unquestionably the rule to keep people away from conversation altogether.

"And if any adventurously minded person should start a subject of talk, whether concerning government, finance, art, literature or science, he or she must be prepared to be looked upon as 'eccentric,' my dear—quite strange, you know! A little mad; reads so much—no social tact whatever!"

Not less disgusting than true, this folly-born practice of professional stupidity that naturally intelligent people have come to regard as a mark of gentility. However, it is not particularly discouraging, because, with the exception of a few imitators, it is confined to the class of people whose only business is to amuse themselves. The people who produce, the sane, thinking people who live for accomplishment and who work, work, work—they are in the overwhelming majority, and they are our real "society."

JUST LIFE

If You—

Talk about your ill-health, it will make you less healthy.

Worry about your work, it will make you less capable.

Imagine you are disliked, it will make you less likeable.

Find fault with others, it will make them faultier.

Anticipate evils, you will be sure to bring them upon you.

Talk much of what you are going to do, you will never do it.

Sit bemoaning the past, you will never get on in the future.

Complain of lack of opportunities, you'll miss what you have.

Wail bitterly that it is an unjust world and life not worth living, you'll find it come true for sure, in your own case at least.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Oh! Well! Let's all love our brothers for a while.

A "four-flusher" can sometimes make good if no one knows he's bluffing.

Michigan probably realizes its feet that count in football after all.

Between standing through a football game at zero, Thanksgiving turkey and "Tom & Jerries," the doctors stand to profit.

After we hear Jerum K. Jerum, we'll probably have some new hunches.

The latest news is that a grand duke has attempted to assassinate the czar. The murder mania seems to be pretty general in Russia.

Now that Michigan has been downed by Chicago, Wisconsin will probably take heart, and perhaps even a game, sometime.

COSTLY SAVES GIRL FROM BAD BURN

Genieve Costly, the twelve-year-old daughter of Registrar in Probate Johnson Costley, narrowly escaped burning to death as the result of her clothes catching fire yesterday. She was broiling steak at the kitchen fire when the light fabric she had put on over her heavy winter dress caught fire and was soon a sheet of flames.

In terror she ran out toward the barn where her father was at work, calling for him to come. Mr. Costley hastened as fast as he could with his crutches and met her halfway to the barn. Dropping one crutch he seized the little girl and in the twinkling of an eye had ripped the burning fabric from her body. The little girl suffered no injury but Mr. Costley sustained a burn on the hand and singed his eyebrows in his heroic work.

Just as it costs no more for a long tip on an up-to-date trolley car now than it used to for a short one on a horse car, so the modern store, which spends money for advertising, can sell goods more cheaply than the old-fashioned store which "saves the expense of advertising."

WILLIAM LINDOW, A FORMER RESIDENT DEAD

Word has been received here of the death, at Black River Falls, of William Lindow, a former resident of La Crosse. Death resulted from cancer growing out of a fall he sustained from a load of hay two years ago.

The deceased was born in Germany Jan. 31st, 1840, and hence would have been 66 years of age next January. He came to America in 1862, going first to Wabasha, Minn., and was there married to Miss Minnie Long. After four years' residence in Minnesota they moved to La Crosse, where they resided for nine years, and then settled in the town of Millston, Jackson county.

ANOTHER MONTH OF VALUABLE

FREE PREMIUMS

To The People of La Crosse and Vicinity.

An Announcement of considerable Importance, Concerning a New Plan to be Inaugurated by The Continental Tomorrow and which will have some Bearing on Christmas Shopping.

With every purchase of $1.00 made at the Continental, beginning tomorrow, and continuing until Dec. 30th, we will issue a premium coupon. This coupon will be of special value to you, not only in securing free premiums to give as Christmas presents but in equipping your home with certain articles that it may now need.

Whenever you have saved enough of these coupons to show that you have bought $5, $10, $15 or $25 worth of goods at the Continental, you will be privileged to bring them to this store, turn them over to us and, in turn, receive a free premium—you to select the premium you desire.

You need not make all your purchases at one time, of course. You make them as you need them; but for every $1.00 that you spend here you will be given a coupon.

We do this because there is a strong demand for it. We recently offered a few free premiums with sales of $5, $10, $15 and $25. And while hundreds of people took advantage of it, there were others who knew nothing about it—or knowing it, they were unable to take advantage of it, at the time.

A WORD ABOUT THE PREMIUMS

We have decided that the premiums shall be high class and the best obtainable. We do not believe it would do us a bit of good to give free premiums if they were trashy premiums. Moreover, we will always have a good supply of them on hand, so that you may take your pick of quite a different number of articles. We will have such things as:

Pictures, Water Sets, Tables, Rugs
Silver Ware, Clocks, Mirrors, Rockers.

All you will have to do is to return us the coupons you have accumulated—when you have the required number—and take your premiums.

It is very easy to accumulate $5 worth of premiums or $10, $15 or $25 worth. By buying a suit or an overcoat you could get the required number immediately, or if you wish to take it in easier stages, you could buy smaller articles, such as hats or furnishings, when you need them, and keep your premiums until you have enough.

Back of this offer stands the Continental's record for square dealing. The goods which you buy from us will always be up to the same high standard we have maintained thus far, while our prices will remain equally low. You pay us not a cent for the premiums, please remember that.

ELK'S THANKSGIVING FEAST A SUCCESS

The "Thanksgiving Blowout" of the Elks' Wednesday night was a big success and was truly an old Winneschick affair. About fifty huge turkeys were carried away by fortunate members and a number of "Elk" ducks graced Thanksgiving boards the following day. The monster turkey, weighing 37 pounds was won by John Kroner. The next in size, weighing 22 pounds and a 10 pounder fell to W. V. Kidd. City Clerk Jos. Sieger staggered home under the weight of two big ones. Attorney Roy Bigham, John C. Burns, J. F. Schrank, W. F. Gallagher, H. L. Rood, F. H. Hartwell, Ross O'Dell, C. A. Worth and others will eat Elk turkey for days to come.

A fine turkey supper was served at 12 o'clock and special music was furnished for the occasion.

CELEBRATE GOLD-EN WEDDING

Hon. Philip Bouffleur and his esteemed wife celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding, Monday evening at their pleasant home in this city, says the Viroqua Republican. It was simply a family gathering. Dr. Albert Bouffleur, of Chicago, was unable to be present on account of being absent, taking treatment for rheumatism. Herman Bouffleur and wife were present from Chicago, also Mrs. Wm. Bouffleur, of La Crosse.

JEWS ATTEND SERVICES YESTERDAY

Over 200 Jews from Winona, La Crosse and other nearby places attended the special commemorative services held at the synagogue on North Eleventh street yesterday afternoon.

Rabbi Victor Carro of Milwaukee was the principal speaker. His topic was "The history of the Jew in America, Based upon History," and he traced the history down to the present from the time the first Jew landed in America 250 years ago.

At the conclusion of the sermon A. Hirschheimer spoke upon the condition of the Jews in Russia, detailing reports received from prominent Jews during his recent visit in New York.

BLACK RIVER BONDS ARE EXTENDED

Chairman Wm. Tabbitts notified this office by telephone Wednesday afternoon, says the Melrose Chronicle, that the board had met, Tuesday, and granted an extension of the bond of the La Crosse and Black River Falls electric railway company another year. Petitions remonstrating against such an act by the board were circulated since Monday, and would have been presented to the town officials at the meeting to be held in this village next Tuesday. There is much opposition in this end of the town to granting an extension of the La Crosse Co.'s bond, and we believe the officials would have learned this fact had they made the slightest enquiry. The legality of the board's act, will probably be carefully looked into.

ALMOST A TRAGEDY

While Charley Mason and Charley Phillips of Bishop Branch, near Viroqua, were out for a hunt, Phillips came near closing the earthly career of his friend Mason. At some little distance the gun carried by Phillips was discharged, shot falling thick about Mason, some of them taking effect in his arm and shoulder. Physicians who cared for Mason, picked out eight shot, and there were others still left.

Santa Claus will be stationed at the door of the Bijou tomorrow afternoon and every child who goes will receive a handsome present.

Miss Katherine Gallagher is visiting friends in Houston.

EPWORTH LEAGUE HOLDS A SOCIAL

The Epworth League of the First M. E. church will hold a social in the church parlors this evening.

Special features of the evening will be music by the High School Mandolin club and a solo by Mr. Kerr. Light refreshments will be served and a large number will no doubt enjoy a very pleasant evening.

Wedded on Eve of Thanksgiving

Miss Clara Hanson and Iver Iverson were united in marriage Wednesday evening at the home of the bride at 1447 Avon street, by the Rev. E. O. Vik of the Charles street Lutheran church.

Miss Gunda Iverson who formerly resided in this city and is a sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid, and Helmer Hanson, a brother of the bride, acted as best man.

After the ceremony, which was performed in the presence of a few friends and relatives a dainty supper was served.

They left yesterday morning for Houston, Minn., where Mr. Iverson is interested in and is employed as foreman of a lumber yard. They will make their future home at Houston, Minn.

Not as many people in this city today are reading the latest popular novel as are reading YOU--if your want ad is. printed to-day.

"THINGS NOT APPARENT ARE CONSIDERED AS NON-EXISTENT."—Maxim of Latin Law.

The "Light" of a Store "Hidden Under a Bushel" Ceases to be a Light At All

Publicity, which is the light of a store, should not be snuffed out now and then. Some merchants think that to keep this light always burning costs too much--but, for that matter, so do many other things cost too much.

For example: Your store rent is too high--when your business is poor; you have too many clerks--for a dull day. Yet these things don't worry you for a moment when things are moving, everybody busy or overworked--especially your cashiers--and when you wish you had more room, more clerks, more stock.

Of course you never had one of those busy days that was not the result of aggressive advertising. And you never had a blue trade day that did not follow a practical hiding of the publicity light.

"ENTERPRISE IN SPOTS" yields, at best, only spots of prosperity. A steady "store light" of increasing candle power--inches of space used daily--with the "snuffers" and the "bushels" sent to the cellar--and store growth and expansion will come in a measure that will amaze you.

"Out of sight, out of mind," sums up the plight of the occasional advertiser.

GOLDEN NUGGETS FOR SALLOW PEOPLE

ST. THOMAS DOWNS W. B. U. IN THE BIG GAME

North Dakota Snowed in, but Plucky Minnesota Eleven Wins After a Fierce Struggle

Heavy storms which blocked traffic on northern lines prevented the University of North Dakota football team getting here to fulfill its Thanksgiving engagement with the Wisconsin Business University. St. Thomas university of Minneapolis was secured in the eleventh hour and yesterday afternoon downed the locals by a score of 17 to 0.

The La Crosse men were outweighed 15 or 20 pounds to the man, nevertheless put up a plucky game and local rooters admired their grit and were not slow to give them all the credit due for clever plays of which there were a number.

The St. Thomas team made two touchdowns in the first half and one in the second. The visitors played straight football almost entirely, going through the line for big gains repeatedly, varied with a few quarterback runs.

The W. B. U. men excelled at punting, no mistakes being made, while the visitors repeatedly fumbled when punts were attempted. Riley, Wambaugh and Sauerberg distinguished themselves on the local team.

The attendance was the largest in the history of football in La Crosse and no complaint was made over the non-arrival of the North Dakota team, spectators realizing that it was no fault of the local management.

The teams lined up as follows:

W. B. U.	St. Thomas.
Scott	Commy
Sauerberg	Doran
Gonderzeik	Duggan
McHugh	Schurich
Schmidt	O'Rourke
Helbig	Jerezek
Riley	Gordon
Schaldach	Malloy
Wambaugh	O'Shaughnessy
White	Herrington
Grimes	Pennington

Summary—Umpire, Remp. Referee, Cunningham. Timekeeper, Ecklund. Linesman, Prof. Spence. Touchdowns, Herrington 1, Gordon 1, Pennington 1. Goals, Herrington 1, Pennington 1. Substitutes, Sanborn for Malloy and Nemecek for Herrington.

DECREASE IN TRAFFIC ON MISSISSIPPI IS MARKED

The decrease in traffic on the Mississippi river in the past five years is specially referred to in the current issue of the Mississippi Valley Lumberman, which uses the record of traffic through the Northwestern drawbridge in Winona as the basis of its article. It quotes this record for the past five years as follows and then goes on to say:

1905.	1904.	1903.	1902.	1901.
Boats ..	1,966	2,430	2,742	3,240
Barges ..	694	875	943	1,014
Rafts ..	559	740	920	939

"The percentages of the three in the order above given are respectively 37, 40 and 42 per cent, with an aggregate decrease of a little less than 39 per cent in the business of 1905 as compared with that of 1901.

"On the other hand, the decline in other lines of river traffic will probably not be as great in the next five years as it has been in the past five for two reasons. The river will always be used to a greater or less extent as a freight carrier, and traffic will not decline below a certain minimum. That minimum has probably about been reached. The other reason is

PRINCETON PRESIDENT HUNT ON A CAR

PITTSBURG, Dec. 1.—Francis L. Patton, president of Princeton Theological Seminary, in alighting from a street car at the Hotel Schenley, was injured so that he has been confined to his room at the hotel. The announcement was made that while his injuries are not severe, he will be forced to abandon the course of lectures which he was to give this week.

President Patton, who arrived in Pittsburgh Saturday, preached twice at the Third Presbyterian church. After the night service he boarded a street car to return to his hotel. He alighted from the car before it had stopped and was thrown sustaining a badly bruised shoulder and being shaken up. Tomorrow or Wednesday he will return to Princeton with his son, Professor George Patton, of the university, who has been sent for.

Abusive Language Cases Adjourned

William Ratz, charged with using abusive language toward Frank Guenther, was arraigned before Justice Hunt Wednesday afternoon. The case was adjourned until December 6.

John Miller, charged with the same offense toward Leoda Harrington, had his case adjourned until today.

Packman Examiner of Organ and Harmony

Prof. Harry Packman, organist and choirmaster of Christ Episcopal church, received word yesterday that he had been appointed interstate examiner for organ and harmony by the that the completion of the lock and dam between Minneapolis and St. Paul will make the former city the head of navigation, and a considerable amount of business that now goes from Minneapolis by rail will be diverted to the river. How much this will amount to it is impossible to estimate.

"Those who oppose appropriations for the improvement of navigation on inland waters will probably use the record of declining business as an argument for stopping the immense expenditures, but their position would not be logical even should the river business continue to decline in volume at a rapid rate. No amount of legislation looking to the control of railroad freight charges can have anything like the effect of the possibility of good healthy water competition. The mere fact that the Mississippi and other rivers and water routes of the interior are kept in its influence on the railroads that parallel them, even though the actual amount of freight carried is but infinitesimal as compared with that carried by the railroads."

Western Conservatory of Music.

Prof. Packman has been instructed to open a studio here and he will be placed in charge. Prof. Packman's new duties will take him periodically to Rochester, Winona, Dubuque, Prairie du Chien and Portage, where pupils will be examined under the direction of the conservatory. This new work will not interfere with his church duties.

Hurry and Worry

Hurry, like a cyclone, whirls you along at a rate that quickly exhausts your energy, and leaves you a nervous, wretched, broken-down physical wreck.

Worry accomplishes the same results in another way. It drags you through the dark, gloomy tunnel of forbodings, wrecks your nerves and breaks down the constitution.

Then don't hurry; don't worry. But you will; and your nervous, exhausted condition brings headaches, neuralgia, heart, stomach, liver and kidney troubles. The thing to do is: Strengthen the nerves with Dr. Miles' Nerve.

"Six months I was bedfast with nervous prostration. I had sinking spells, a cold, clammy feeling, couldn't stand the slightest noise. At times I would almost fly to pieces; stomach very weak. My husband insisted on my taking Dr. Miles' Nerve, and I began to improve before I had finished the first bottle, and to-day I am entirely cured."

MRS. JOSEPH SNYDER,
224 Hudson St., Tiffin, O.

Dr. Miles' Nerve is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.

MISSING GIRL IS COPPER'S WIFE

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Miss Martha De Gray, the pretty eighteen-year-old daughter of Godwin De Gray of No. 116 Bay Fourteenth street, Bath Beach, who was reported to the police several days ago as missing, was found yesterday to be the wife of Policeman Edward E. Van Cleef, and is now at his home, at Bay Twenty-seventh street and Bath avenue.

Mr. De Gray, who is well to do, refuses to be reconciled, and last night informed his son-in-law that he would never welcome him to his home. Van Cleef, who has been a policeman only a few weeks, told his father-in-law that he is well able to support his wife, that they are both happy and that they are looking to the future with hope and contentment.

"We met for the first time," said the policeman, "while I was on post, and often last summer we sat on the De Gray veranda. We decided last week to get married and last Thursday we went to the Fleet street Methodist church and were united by the Rev. E. G. Richardson."

Van Cleef, who had been on leave of absence, returned to duty yesterday to find that an alarm was out for Miss De Gray. He told the sergeant that the young woman was his wife. Word was sent to Mr. De Gray and a stormy scene followed.

The young wife declared last night that she was sorry her father would not forgive them, but declared she was happy in her new home. She has money in her own right.

First Shots in What May be Revolution

HAVANA, Dec. 1.—The first fight in what the liberal leaders insist is a revolution in Cuba, has occurred, and no blood was spilled. The only information on the subject to be obtained here was from an official telegram addressed to the commander of the rural guard from Alquizar, saying that at the plantation of Las Piedras the troops had an engagement with about twenty men under Mariano Robau and Rafael the rebels fled, leaving some of their effects, including a horse. The only casualty on the side of the government was to Sergeant Louis Suarez, who was hurt by the fall of his horse. The Havana officials would add nothing to these facts.

Governor Nunez insisted that all was quiet in the Havana Province, if any persons after talking had left their homes for the hills, they would not be disturbed unless they committed some act of violence and nothing of the kind had yet occurred. He laughed when his attention was called specifically to Senor Pina Guerra, who is rumored to have taken charge of a band of rebels, and said that Senor Guerra is actually in Havana.

No reason is known for the cause of his arrest. I visited Senor Guerra's home tonight and saw his wife, who said emphatically he is not here, and she did not expect to see him again until the so called election of September 23 had been set aside, beyond that, all she would say was that her husband would fight once more for Cuba's liberty.

The secretary of the government, Senor Andrade, was in his office at the palace until after eleven last night, holding conferences with the leaders. When he left he told a correspondent that the alquizar brush was the only news of the day, though fifty or more telegrams had been received by the government offering aid. The liberals insist that the uprising is far more serious than Senor Palma's Cabinet is willing to acknowledge, and the facts will be suppressed until after the election.

DYING BOY WOULD NOT ACCUSE THE CHAUFFEUR

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Although seriously injured and believing he was dying, eleven-year-old Thomas King, of No. 647 Second avenue, who was run down by an automobile at Thirty-fourth street and Madison avenue, refused to make a complaint against the chauffeur of the machine.

"I don't want the guy pinched," said the little chap while on his way to the New York hospital in an ambulance. "I guess it's all up with me, but anyhow I ain't a-goin' to have him put in the jug."

King and several companions were on their way home from school and were skylarking along the street. At Madison avenue and Thirty-fourth street they had some fun with a chestnut vender and he gave chase.

King dodged the vender and in doing so darted in front of an automobile owned by F. B. Gallagher, proprietor of a garage at No. 230 West Fifty-eighth street, and driven by Harry Van Tine, a salesman.

When Dr. Burroughs, an ambulance surgeon, from the New York hospital, decided to hurry the boy there, Policeman Riordan, of the West Thirtieth street station, got into the ambulance and asked King if he wanted to make a complaint against Van tine, between groans the youngster said: "Nothin' doin'." "I aint a-goin' to have him pinched." The boy was so seriously injured, however, that the police arrested Van Tine.

"That kid may have been at fault," said Policeman Riordan, "but he's the gamest youngster I ever came across."

YALE STUDENTS TOUR WOODS

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 1.—Nearly sixty students, who are members of the senior class in the Yale forestry school, left in two groups for the woods of Northern Maine. They will spend the next two months in observing practical forestry and commercial lumbering work by the companies that conduct logging camps. The students will not only study and observe but will be expected to take some hand in the practical end of the business, and upon their return to New Haven, in January, will be expected to make reports of the work done to the director of the school.

This forest work is supplementary to the regular course of book instruction and lectures in the school. It is also an extension of the spring and early summer work, which is done by the students of both classes of the school at the summer station of the Yale forest school, in Milford, Pa.

By combining active operations in the woods with book work and theoretical instruction, the instructors in the school are developing a large body of men ready for active work in any section of this country and the Philippines as soon as they are graduated from the two years course. A large proportion of the graduates of the department are in the government forest bureau service already established.

"Many littles make a much," and if you find one want ad, a day worth answering the total of gain at the end of a year will surprise you.

That Boy

Of yours has a fondness for drawing, or perhaps he is cut out for an office man. It may be that he is experimenting with electricity, or has a liking for chemistry.

These are straws that show which way the wind blows.

If you can't afford to send him away to college, enroll him with us and give him a chance to become a success. This is a Xmas suggestion. Let us know what his bent is, and we will send you a circular describing our course which will qualify him for success along that line.
